*Beloved, let us love one another,
because love is from God:
everyone who loves
is born of God and knows God*
1 John 4:7

I do not know if anyone else noticed this, but it seemed like right after Christmas stores began to display decorations for Valentine's Day. I know this happens every year, but this year it just seemed so quick.

February gets wrapped in flowers, cards, sweet words, and chocolate! A very welcome reprieve from the dead of winter, especially this winter. These outward gifts and gestures of love are important and fun! It is important to remind people in our lives that they are loved by acknowledging them on this special day. It is predicted Americans will spend over $25 billion dollars on Valentine's Day this year, that is up from the figure of $14 billion in 2025. People want to give joy, and that is super encouraging!

As people of faith, we are called to look deeper than a "Valentine's Day" kind of love. We are called to look beyond romance, to a love that grounds us in this life. As people of faith, we know love is not simply a feeling but a way of being. If love begins with God we will carry that love into our homes, our neighborhoods, our church. A love that begins in God means our love will also radiate to those who may be difficult to love.

Jesus taught us the greatest commandment is love, this love shows itself when we are compassionate, patient, forgiving, and courageous. This kind of love is present even when there are disagreements and pain. This kind of love chooses kindness.

We may not get this kind of love perfect every day, but we can strive for it, we can ask God to help us be a loving presence.

This year as we enter into our season of Lent, instead of giving something up, let us take something on; more love!

♪♪ What the world needs now is love sweet love... ♪♪

Many blessings to you all,

Pastor Val

CARE MINISTRY

Reflections on the Quote....

A monthly column from church member Ruth Jones. Ruth is a retired elementary school teacher.

*These trials are only to test your faith,
to see whether or not it is strong and pure.
It is being tested as fire tests gold and purifies it ...and your faith is far more precious to God than mere gold.*

I Peter 1:7

I've always struggled with the concept of God being the instigator of our trials. It seems unkind, almost cruel, to come from a loving God. Then a devotional explained the ocean's process of transforming trash into treasure.

Discarded bottles and glassware are broken into many pieces by the pounding waves. Years of the tossing and turning smooth the sharp edges and the aging process colors them brown, green, white, and even red and orange, and sometimes, though rarely, turquoise. Craftspeople turn these bits from the sea into lovely sea glass jewelry.

Age is not just a number was probably coined by someone not close to knowing anything about life in the senior years. Age is much more than a number if you are fortunate enough to be blessed with a walk with God, a positive attitude and a sense of humor and the ability to count your blessings—actually to recognize your blessings.

Like sea glass, we've tumbled in many directions, faced trials and tribulations. Unlike sea glass I personally haven't become more beautiful—no modeling jobs have been offered.

As long as we have breath, we have God's love to share. I'm sure that a number of you remember Shirley MacLachlan, whom I called a dear friend. She was always available to listen and offer wisdom, even in her last days. The memory of her loving care and steady support lives on.

Age is much more than just a number and Marlborough Congregational Church makes that a true statement.

On June 1, 2025, I attended church with our daughter for the first time in 2-1/2 years. The warmth of the loving welcome I received will always hold me. Sheryl told her Dad she felt like she's been out with a celebrity! She told me nothing like my experience in Marlborough would ever happen at the church she attends.

So, I'll be true to the quote from C.T. Studd, a British missionary who lived one hundred years ago: Only one life, twill soon be past. Only what is done for Christ will last...

I'll keep on knitting for the Care Team and writing "Reflections on the Quote" as long as I can see and hold a pen.

Thank you all for your love and support!

Lord, help us realize that you have important work for us to do,
no matter our age or mobility.

ABOUT THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

a note from Elizabeth Kukich
Christian Education/ Youth Director
ekukich@marlconchurch.org

Hello from Sunday School,

This past month we have started to read from the Gospel of Matthew. Each Sunday we take different chapter to read and break it down with a discussion to help the kids better understand its meaning. Some fun crafts help us make the lesson sink in a little more. We started out with Matthew 4:17-25, Jesus' Ministry Begins. Here we learned the importance of Jesus gathering his disciples to help spread his words to others. They began preaching repentance and the coming Kingdom of Heaven and demonstrating His power by healing many people across Galilee. The kids made a large poster where they each listed the ways Jesus shows he cares for each and every one of us. Because Jesus cares for us, He helps in time of need with our family and friends, helps guide us in our schoolwork, during times of sickness and helps us shine during good times.

We then read Matthew 5:1-16, Sermon on the Mount. Jesus traveled through the countryside and began his teachings up on a mountain. Large crowds began to follow him and his disciples. He told the crowds that blessings would come to those who the world viewed as weak and unimportant and those who chose to follow God rather than pursue personal gain. This is where he said, "You are the salt of the earth" and "You are the light of the world". In class some of the kids talked about ways they can be peacemakers and how they can apply that to everyday life. The older kids played a game where they were blindfolded and had to taste a treat not knowing if it was salty or sweet. If they had a salty treat, they needed to give an example of how they are the salt of the earth, by being a positive influence on others around them with integrity and humility. If they had a sweet treat, they needed to give an example of being the light of the world. They could do this with good deeds and during dark times, they can shine the path to God through their faith.

We took a Sunday to celebrate Martin Luther King, Jr. I was very impressed with how much the kids all knew about him and why his preachings are still so important today. That particular day, the kids really lead the conversation with sharing facts about him and ways we can follow in his footsteps. We used a famous quote from MLK with a craft to help us remember him. "Darkness cannot drive out darkness; only light can do that. Hate cannot drive out hate; only love can do that." The kids wrote this quote on a Ziplock bag, then placed a piece of black paper in the bag. Once they colored and cut out a paper flashlight, they slid the light in the bag to light up these important words.

In the weeks to come, we will continue to read more chapters from the gospel of Matthew. We will continue to learn about Jesus' teachings and ways we can follow his words and apply them to our lives today.

Many blessings,
Elizabeth
